EXPOSITIONS.

Incidents and Accidents in and About Yale.

With razor keen and water hot, You'll always find me on the spot. Your hair I'll dress in fashion style, To cause the ladies all to smile.

Your razors too, I will repair, And warrant them to cut a hair. When you are shaved you truly say, My money was not thrown away.

Shampooing too, I'll attend to that, To keep you healthy, fair and fat. And clean your hair of dandruff all, So gentlemen, give Dick Windsor a call.

A 25 cent entertainment for one potato at M. E. church.

Come to the cloak sale at Ballentine's next week. Any day.

Proceeds of entertainment at M. E. church Christmas night to go to the needy of the village.

Don't forget that Mrs. Taylor's is headquarters for holiday goods. One-quarter off on albums.

T. H. Parkinson and family now occupy the Bowman residence on West North Street having moved therein this week.

A change in the firm of Holden & McNair necessitates a change of ad. Read what the change of advertisement contains.

We grow more humane as we grow older. Whereas once we kicked the neighbor's dog openly, we now poison him on the sly.

Election of officers Yale Tent, No. 88, KOTM, next Tuesday evening. Every member should attend and elect none but good men to fill the offices.

An elegant stock of Christmas goods. Give your wife or your best girl a dandy rocker or some other useful article. Brown & Cooper's is a good place to select from.

The Brown City Banner has this to say of R. G. McLaughlin's little daughter: "Little Vera McLaughlin fell from a chair Tuesday injuring her arm quite badly by falling on it."

If you have an item of news that you think would be of interest to the public in general drop it into the item box at the post office. Sign your name, not for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Saturday was poultry day at the station in this village. Holden Bros. advertised in the Expositor for 2,500 live chickens to be delivered in Yale on that day and received over 3,000. Who says advertising does not pay?

J. B. Lewis Co., Boston are now making extensive alterations in their factory at Avon, Mass., so that they can take care of their largely increased business. Last season they were obliged to decline some orders in justice to their customers. This speaks very loudly the praises of this concern, and while other manufacturers were closed, they were running overtime. The Root and Shoe Reporting Co.'s statistics show this firm to be doing the largest volume of business of any manufacturer selling to the retail trade from Boston, which is the heart of the boot and shoe industry of the country. This means, in these days of competition, that up to date styles, courteous treatment, and prices lower than others care to offer, makes success.

He would not live always, He asked not to stay, Where he bled for Christmas He'd soon have to pay.

Chairs re-seated at Brown & Cooper's. We are sorry to learn that E. F. Law, of Port Huron, has typhoid fever.

Mary Bettles has been quite ill for the past week but is on the mend.

Born, on Sunday, December 2nd, 1894, to the wife of James Rix, a fine baby boy.

The second quarterly meeting of the M. E. church was held in the church on Tuesday.

The Whist Club enjoyed a social time at the residence of J. B. Francis Tuesday evening.

Yes, you may bring a sack of flour if you prefer. Committee will see that it goes to the right place.

Be sure and attend the song service at the Brick chapel next Sunday evening. An interesting program is being prepared.

The copy for the by-laws of Peerless Hiver, L.O.M., is in the hands of the printer and the books will be out in about two or three weeks.

For elegant holiday goods call on P. W. Doelle. If you want toys to amuse the young he has a large stock. Read his adv. in this issue.

One potato secures admission to entertainment at M. E. church Christmas night, but you may bring a bushel if you prefer. All to go to the needy of the village.

Next Wednesday evening concludes this term of singing school. Prof. Sturgis would like to see a full attendance present. He has something of importance to say to you.

Mr. Webb, father of Mrs. Jacob Van-Clief, died on Sunday, December 9th, 1894, at an advanced age. The funeral sermon will be preached in the Disciple church Sunday next at eleven o'clock, by Elder R. B. Brown.

The Independent, published at Coleman by David B. Menery, a former attaché of the Expositor office, last week closed its sixth year of existence. Dave says he is there to stay and we should judge that he was from the bright, healthy appearance of the Independent. Success to both publisher and paper.

Mrs. Hiram Brown was walking along the sidewalk by C. F. Michaels on Monday and when within one step of the front of the barn there situated, the large door suddenly fell, barely escaping her. It was a narrow escape for if the door had struck her she would have been severely injured if not killed.

Dr. Warner Cornell, my brother and partner, eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist of Port Huron, will be unable to make his usual visit to Yale on December 28th, as he has not fully recovered from the attack of malarial fever he was taken down with four weeks ago but will be there on January 25th, 1895. E. A. CORNELL.

D. G. Williams, who conducts the general store on the corner of Main and Mechanic streets, has decided to sell his stock of dry goods, boots and shoes, at a great reduction in price. These goods are to be sold at any price to get rid of them. It is the intention of Mr. Williams to handle only a large and select stock of groceries and provisions. Call early if you wish to secure some of the rare bargains.

The firm of Harris & Parkinson dissolved this week, T. H. Parkinson going out of business. The Harris make of wagons, carriages, buggies, etc., is well known and since coming to Yale Mr. Harris has had no reason to regret his removal here. The town also has been benefited by his coming. The large brick shops have been erected and several families have been added to the population, causing a demand for more houses. We trust Mr. Harris' business will still further increase and bring him all success. T. H. Parkinson, the retiring partner, our legislative representative, will probably not go into business again until spring when he will take hold of something, which, with his abilities, he will make a success of.

The weather this week has been somewhat variable and more like spring or fall than so late in the winter. Quite an amount of rain has fallen which has softened the ground and filled the empty cisterns. Several flurries of snow have occurred, making the ground white for a few minutes when it would all be soaked away. Tuesday evening the clouds cleared away and as beautiful an evening as one would wish to see ensued, the moon and stars shining in all their radiance. Wednesday morning people woke up with a dreary sense of another gloomy day, rain and snow falling until night. We would be glad to get a good, heavy snow storm for a Christmas present, when we could hear the sleigh bells jingle and everything gay and lively. The weather seems now a fitting accompaniment to the sad scenes this place has lately witnessed.

The firm of Holden & McNair, general dealers in dry goods and groceries, was dissolved last week Thursday, J. C. Holden continuing the business and D. B. McNair retiring. With different partners and sometimes alone Mr. Holden has been in the mercantile business for nearly twenty years, being well known, well liked and always popular. His customers, and they are not few, by any means, know that they can trust Carl's word and whatever he tells them about his goods is the truth and they can rely upon it. People who once give their trade to J. C. Holden never leave him. He is a good business man and we trust he will always continue successful. A countenance which you are generally sure to see in "Holden's Store" is the ever-genial, good-humored one of John Black. He has been with this firm for the past few years and would be greatly missed if he should absent himself. Customers are well pleased if they can be waited upon by Mr. Black, his pleasant ways and good judgment making him a great favorite. You can always depend upon John's telling the truth no matter how many jokes he gets off. The retiring partner, Dougall McNair, has been in business in Yale for two or three years, having kept the clothing store next to J. C. Holden's until the two firms united, less than a year since. He has always been well esteemed as a business man and otherwise and we wish him all prosperity in whatever business he may embark, which we hope will be something in our town.

The man in the moon, we think, Is looking unusually pleasant, It may be because he never need think Of giving a Christmas present.

Pay your taxes.

C. A. Hovey, of Port Huron, was in Yale on legal business last week.

Make yourself and others happy by contributing to the poor Christmas night.

L. Higer & Sons change of adv. received too late for this week. Read the old one.

Holiday bargains in China, Lamps and Brass Tables at J. A. Davidson & Co's. See change of adv.

If you have some wood to dispose of and owe for your subscription to the Expositor bring us a load or two.

Christmas one week from next Tuesday. Yale merchants have a fine line of holiday presents on exhibition.

H. G. White's mother was taken quite sick last Saturday caused by a stroke of paralysis. It is hoped she may soon recover.

Don't miss the cloak sale at Ballentine's next week. They have a full line of everything in cloaks and capes cheaper than ever.

The Junior League assisted by young lady friends will give an entertainment at M. E. church Christmas night benefit of poor of the village.

The house of Patrick Magill living in the township of Emmet was burned to the ground last week Wednesday. Loss $1,000, fully insured.

F. H. Gibbs & Co., hardware merchants of Yale, have some "Xmas Hints" for the readers of the Expositor in a change of adv. this week.

Asman & Beard, Port Huron, have some elegant holiday presents such as fancy aprons, handkerchiefs, purses, stamped linen for silk and lace work. See their adv.

Township Treasurer Weaver will be at the Speaker Town Hall, Tuesdays, and the remainder of the week at his home in Melvin for the purpose of collecting taxes.

Don't fail to call at the Bazaar in Allen's store building and see the beautiful fancy articles sent to Junior League by League of Central M. E. Church of Detroit, on Saturday, December 15th. Prices low.

The Ladies of the M. E. church, Roseburg, will give an Oyster Supper in the Fremont Town Hall, on Wednesday evening, December 19th. Proceeds to apply on the building of the new sheds. The public in general are cordially invited.

Brown & Cooper, furniture dealers, Yale, handed in their adv. too late for publication in this issue. Look for it next week. In the meantime call at warehouses on corner in Duffie block and see what an immense stock of elegant furniture they have.

For Christmas and New Year Holidays the F. & P. M. R. R. will sell excursion tickets between stations on its line at rate of two cents per mile each way for round trip, Dec. 24, 25 and 31, 1894, and Jan. 1, 1895, good for return up to and including Jan. 2, 1895.

A pleasant evening was participated in by about 20 young people at the residence of E. R. Beecher Monday evening, in honor of their guest, Merritt Dibble. Cards and other amusements were indulged in and an elegant repast served in Mrs. Beecher's usual dainty manner ended the happy hours.

Advertisers will please take notice that changes of advertisements must be brought in not later than Tuesday noon of each week to insure publication. We are pleased to have our advertisers change their ads. often but when they reach us later than Tuesday noon it is impossible to make the necessary changes and get our paper out on time.

People having cattle or horses running at large must know that it is strictly in violation of a village ordinance. Such cattle or horses are continuously browsing trees and shrubbery and breaking into the gardens and orchards of our citizens. They must be kept at home says the village marshal or they will be found in the village pound after this week.

Will Cavanagh, of the firm of Waring & Cavanagh, thought he was the recipient of a Christmas gift on Monday, as he saw a fine large turkey with its legs tied together come crashing through the glass of a back window of the store. But he finally was made to believe that it had got away from the meat market, where its doom was sealed as the bird probably knew before it attempted an escape.

Bankers B. R. Noble, of Yale, and John Niggebaum, of Crosswell, were in Coleman Thursday and decided to start a bank here. They have rented the Cleveland Cedar Company's office until spring at which time they will erect a building suitable for banking purposes. They will be ready to do business on or before Jan. 1, 1895. The firm of Noble & Niggebaum is a solid one and we are glad to have such men take an interest in our village. The bank will be operated by Charles Niggebaum, at present connected with the Crosswell bank, who will move with his family to Coleman at once. We are personally acquainted with Mr. Niggebaum and can recommend him to the people of Coleman as a pleasant gentleman and a good business man.—Coleman Independent.

A commendable innovation has been introduced by Secretary of State Gardner in the manner of the distribution of certain reports issued from his office. It has been the custom to ship every year to the County Clerks great numbers of the "Vital Statistics", "Joint Documents", etc., which were far in excess of any demands made for them by the public, and which accumulated as useless lumber in the county offices until finally destroyed. This office is in receipt of a copy of the Vital Statistics. Report for 1892 directly from the State Department, and County Clerks will be supplied in future with only as many copies as they can actually distribute. The report is an excellent one, well illustrated with maps and diagrams, and will prove of great interest to physicians, health officers, clergymen, and all interested in the important subjects included—population, births, marriages and deaths, and the comparative vital statistics of our States and countries.
